The second in this season's concerts by the Naumburg Orchestra will be heard on the Mall in Central Park on Friday evening, July 4, at 8:15 P.M. Dr. Alexander Leslie will conduct and Alvin Rudnitsky will appear as guest soloist.

These concerts are contributed by Mr. Walter W. Naumburg and Mr. George W. Naumburg, sons of Mr. Elkan Naumburg who donated the band stand on the Mall to the people of the City of New York. Their father had made it a custom to contribute orchestral concerts in the cause of good music. His sons have continued this custom in his memory.

The program for the Fourth of July concert will be:

1. Overture - Oberon Weber
2. Symphony No. 5 in E. Minor - The New World
First Movement Dvorak
3. Concerto in E. Minor - Second and Third Movements . . . Mendelssohn
Alvin Rudnitsky
4. March Slav Tchaikovsky
5. Wedding March - The Golden Cockerel Suite Rimsky-Korsakoff
6. Waltz - Artist Life Strauss

RICHMONDTOWN

Further progress toward the preservation and restoration of historic old Richmondtown on Staten Island was made on June 12th when the Board of Estimate amended the zoning regulations in the Richmondtown area and restricted its future development to residential and non-business uses.

The early colonial village of Richmond lies at the east end of the 2,800-acre Fresh Kills sanitation fill project and contains a remarkable number of historic sites and buildings such as the Voorlezer's House built in 1696, St. Andrew's Episcopal Church built in 1709, and the old County Clerk's Office of 1848, now the museum of the Staten Island Historical Society. Because of its proximity to the Fresh Kills project and to other existing and proposed public improvements in the Borough of Richmond, such as La Tourette Park, Richmond and Willowbrook Parkways and the future West Shore Expressway, the restoration of Richmondtown has enlisted the whole-hearted support and cooperation of many city officials and agencies, civic groups and other interested citizens.

The Staten Island Historical Society, which has already restored the Voorlezer's House and the County Clerk's Office and maintains them as museums, has envisioned the preservation and gradual restoration or rebuilding of the principal buildings which formerly composed the village of Richmond. Steady progress is being made in the acquisition of sites and in planning for the future. Unlike such widely known restorations as Williamsburg, Virginia, and Sturbridge Village, Massachusetts, Richmondtown is easily accessible to a great metropolitan population. The project presents a rare opportunity to preserve the last remaining, and comparatively unspoiled, example of the early Colonial and Federal village and county center from which the City of New York grew.

To permit the retention of the quiet narrow streets in the heart of the village the office of the Borough President of Richmond is preparing plans for street improvements which will divert heavy through-traffic from the area. Since many of the historic sites lie within the limits of La Tourette Park, the Park Department is actively cooperating in plans for their preservation and will assist the Department of Sanitation in the preparation of grading studies and the supervision of landfill operations in this section of the Fresh Kills project so that existing features of natural and historic interest may be retained wherever possible.

Recent efforts have been made to have Richmondtown designated a national historic site and placed under the jurisdiction of the National Park Service. However, the Advisory Board on National Parks, Historic Sites, Buildings, and Monuments after studying the project did not recommend such a designation and the National Park Service, without such recommendation is unable to designate Richmondtown as a national historic site or to accept title to land there for incorporation into the National Park System.

Mr. Conrad Wirth, Director of the National Park Service has recently written to the Park Department:

"The Board recognized that the Community of Richmondtown has a rich historical and architectural heritage fully justifying the interest and care with which the citizens, the Borough officials and the City of New York are preserving that heritage for public use and enjoyment. While the Board did not recommend that Richmondtown be designated a national historic site, it wished to encourage it as being a work of conservation of widespread interest to people in the State of New York and the country as a whole."

"Under the authority of the Park, Parkway and Recreational-Area Study Act of June 23, 1936, we are prepared, however, to cooperate in any way we can to further the preservation of historic Richmondtown and to give advisory assistance."

"There are of course many historic shrines of national interest which can best be administered locally, such as Monticello, home of Thomas Jefferson, and George Washington's home at Mount Vernon. If, as this splendid work goes forward, the National Park Service professional staff can be of any further assistance, as indicated above, we shall of course be glad to extend such help in every way possible to us."

All of the 576 Park Department playgrounds are ready to provide safe summer recreation for vacationing youngsters and teenagers who will be released from school this week. The great number and variety of recreational facilities in New York City parks will enable them to enjoy vacation fun at no cost, or at most, for a nominal fee.

A recreation staff of 1,476 employees will supervise and conduct daily activities and special events throughout the summer at park facilities.

Park neighborhood playgrounds are equipped with more than 12,000 pieces of playground apparatus, 4,000 handball, shuffleboard, paddle tennis, volleyball, basketball and Tennis courts, etc., and over 500 ball diamonds. These activities plus group games, athletics, ping pong, arts & crafts, and quiet games form the framework of the daily recreation program in the playgrounds.

The seven park beaches and seventeen outdoor swimming pools are supervised by a trained staff of lifeguards. At the beaches, children's lockers are 15 cents, adults' 25 cents. At the pools there is a free period from 10 A.M. to Noon, Monday through Saturday, for children 14 years of age and under. During this period, lifeguards will teach children how to swim as part of the Learn-to-Swim Program conducted annually in July and August. Afternoons and evenings children under 14 years pay 10 cents admission to the pools, and those over 14 and adults pay 25 cents.

Toddlers can beat the heat at neighborhood playgrounds under saucer showers or in the wading pools.

There are 51 miles of bicycle paths and 56 miles of bridle paths in the parks and along parkways. A bicycle outing to a park picnic grove, of which there are 21, is a pleasant way for a young group to spend a summer's day. Fireplaces, tables and benches are available at park picnic groves.

Boys and girls may fish at any of the 42 fishing areas and those under 16 years of age may try their luck at special fishing areas set aside for their use at the 72nd Street Lake in Central Park and at Prospect Park and Van Cortlandt Park lakes.

Special areas in the parks are also set aside for kite and model airplane flying and there are 12 lakes where model yachts may be sailed.

Younger children will enjoy seeing a free performance of the Department of Parks Marionette Theatre's production of Jack and the Beanstalk when it visits one of the parks near their homes. This popular and elaborate show will be on tour through September 5.

Teenagers may spend pleasant evenings with their friends by attending free concerts and dances in the parks during their vacations. Dances to the music of famous dance orchestras are sponsored each evening, Monday through Friday at 8:30 P.M., by the Consolidated Edison Company. The Guggenheim Memorial Concerts by the Goldman Band are heard on the Mall on Sunday, Monday, Wednesday, and Friday evenings, and at the Prospect Park Music Grove on Thursday and Saturday evenings, all at 8:30 P.M. through August 15. The remaining Naumburg Orchestral Concerts this season will be given July 4, July 31, and September 1 at 8:15 P.M.

Competitive events for pre-teen and teen-age groups this summer will include city-wide tournaments in softball, tennis, golf, swimming, and the Junior Olympics early in September. Entries may still be filed for all of these, except tennis which is now under way, at neighborhood park playgrounds.

Park recreational activities, of course, are not confined to the younger generation. All our citizens, from the youngest to the oldest, will find opportunities for summer recreation in New York City's parks. A booklet listing the major recreation facilities available in parks and playgrounds will be sent to anyone sending a large self-addressed, stamped envelope with their request to the Department of Parks, Arsenal, Central Park, New York 21.

Buddy Morrow and Hal McIntyre will play for the Name Band Dances scheduled for the week of June 30. These dances under the stars are sponsored by the Consolidated Edison Company and conducted each weekday evening, Monday through Friday, at 8:30 P.M. by the Department of Parks at major parks in the city.

On Monday, June 30, personable Buddy Morrow will be leading his great RCA Victor dance orchestra at Colonial Park, 146th Street and Bradhurst Avenue, Manhattan. Buddy played with Paul Whiteman, Eddie Duchin, Artie Shaw, Vincent Lopez, and Tommy Dorsey before forming his own band. His listenable, danceable rhythms are popular with dancers and critics alike. Buddy features Frankie Lester and Barbara Nelson as vocalists.

Hal McIntyre takes over the baton for the rest of the week, playing Tuesday, July 1 at Jackson Heights Playground, 84th Street and 25th Avenue, Queens; Wednesday, July 2, at Poe Park, 192nd Street and Grand Concourse, Bronx; and Thursday, July 3, at Wollman Memorial, opposite 64th Street and Fifth Avenue in Central Park. No dance will be held on the Fourth of July.

Hal McIntyre, protege of Glenn Miller who encouraged him to form his own band and with whom he played for four years, has known a phenomenal rise in the entertainment world. His popular hotel engagements, radio work, Hollywood musicals, and recordings for Victor, Cosmo, and MGM all prove the soundness of Glenn Miller's advice. Featured with McIntyre's band are Ernie Bernhart, Jeanne McManus, and the McIntots.

The Consolidated Edison Company and the Department of Parks cordially invite the public to attend these free dances, not only during the coming week but also during the entire summer.

The XV Olympiad will be held at Helsinki, July 19 to August 3, 1952. This is a particularly significant event at this time, in view of the international situation, and a splendid challenge to every American to show the entire world what sportsmanship and the love of games means to a people brought up in a freedom-loving country.

The first fund raising event of the campaign for funds to send our athletes to the Olympics, will be the premiere of Elliot Murphy's Aquashow, Tuesday evening, June 24, at the Amphitheatre in Flushing Meadow Park. In addition to the regular aquashow, the Mayor's Committee has made arrangements for the appearance of world famous Olympic champs such as Dick Button, Buster Crabbe, Marshall Wayne, John Hayes, Ray Barbutti, Sam Mosberg, John David, Frank Cumisky, and the present competing Olympic Gymnastic Team.

Not only will patrons enjoy an excellent evening of entertainment but also will be contributing to a very worthy cause.

The Department of Parks announces the completion of construction and the opening for use by the public of a playground located in Riverside Park, opposite West 76th Street, between Henry Hudson Parkway and Riverside Drive, in the Borough of Manhattan.

The playground is .75 acres in area, is semi-circular in shape and is divided in half by a fence. The southerly half of the area is for basketball and the northerly section is for small children and contains a comfort station, sand pit, showers, see-saw boards, slides and swings, and adequate benches for the mothers or guardians of the children using this facility. The playground is enclosed with fencing and shade trees have been planted around the border and will provide a much needed recreational area for this heavily populated section of Manhattan.

With the addition of this playground, there are now 576 playgrounds in the expanded park system.

Department of Parks announces that the Borough of Manhattan will present their 25th Annual Children's Dance Festival on the Sheep Meadow, 67th Street and West Drive in Central Park, on Saturday, June 21, at 2:30 P.M. More than 600 young girls will participate in the fete which will be witnessed by friends and relatives of the dancers.

This year's festival is a departure from precedent in that novelty dances will be featured instead of traditional folk dances as in former years.

Eight numbers are on Saturday's program. The following is a listing of the dances and the playgrounds participating in them:

INDIAN SQUAW DANCE	Annunciation, Hamilton Place, Carmansville, Colonial & 149th Street, Colonial & 152nd Street, and Harlem River Housing Playgrounds.
MERRY BUFFOONS	Heckscher, North Meadow, Riverside & 74th Street, Riverside & 83rd Street, Riverside & 103rd Street, and Morningside & 123rd Street Playgrounds.
THE OLYMPIANS	McCaffrey, West 45th Street, Chelsea, Chelsea Roof, St. Gabriels, and East 24th Street Playgrounds.
WATER SPIRITS	Jay Hood Wright, Ft. Tryon, Payson Avenue, Dyckman Housing, Highbridge & 189th Street, and Highbridge & 167th Street Playgrounds
BUTTONS AND BOWS	Alfred E. Smith, Columbus, Roosevelt, Seward, Bernard Downing, and Cherry & Clinton Streets Playgrounds.

The dances are performed within the enclosure of a giant horseshoe arrangement of benches for spectators. The young dancers open the program by marching in procession around the enclosure and then sitting down in groups on the green lawn. Their bright costumes, which they made under the supervision of the park recreation staff, lend bright accents to the scene.

These festivals are highlights in the year-round recreation program of the Department of Parks. The festivals for the Queens and Bronx playgrounds were held earlier in June. The Richmond festival will be held on June 28 at Clove Lakes Park and Brooklyn's is scheduled on August 9 at the Long Meadow in Prospect Park.

The public is cordially invited to attend these festivals. There is no charge for admission.

Art Mooney, "That Genial Irish Gentleman", will bring his great entertaining band to the Wollman Memorial for the opening dance on June 19. Mooney is MGM's recording sensation and it will be recalled that his record of "I'm Looking Over a Four Leaf Clover" joined the all time hit recording class.

Al Lombardy, a Brooklyn boy, is appropriately scheduled to play for the first dance at Prospect Park on June 20.

Johnny Long, young America's favorite, will appear at Victory Field on Tuesday, June 24, at Poe Park on Wednesday, June 25, and at the Wollman Memorial on Thursday, June 26.

Buddy Morrow, RCA Victor dance orchestra leader, will play for the Friday, June 27, dance at Prospect Park.

There is no admission fee charged for any of these dances. The Department of Parks and the Consolidated Edison Company cordially invite all those who wish to dance or listen to the music to attend all of this season's dances.

SUNDAY - JUNE 8, 1952

The annual spring and summer tour of the Department of Parks Marionette Theatre will begin on Monday, June 9, and run through Friday, September 5. Eighty-eight performances of Jack and the Beanstalk will be given at seventy park playgrounds centrally located in the various sections of the city. A special performance will be given for the children at Bellevue Hospital on August 26.

The Department of Parks Marionette Theatre performances have been acclaimed by educators, parent-teacher groups, and others as the best in entertainment for children. Story adaptation, staging, lighting, costuming, in fact, all the details have been planned as carefully as those for a Broadway production. It is no wonder then that children look forward to seeing each annual production.

Last winter thousands of children were unable to see Jack and the Beanstalk because of the limited seating at indoor facilities, but these summer shows are given on a specially constructed stage built on a truck chassis. The stage has built in lighting and sound systems and extra amplifiers allow the dialogue and music to be heard clearly by every one in the audience.

The schedule for the performance in the boroughs will be: Brooklyn - June 9 to June 27; Richmond - June 30 to July 9; Queens - July 10 to July 29; Bronx - July 30 to August 15; Manhattan - August 18 to September 5.

There is no charge for admission and no reservations need be made for any of the performances:

600 young dancers from Department of Parks playgrounds in Queens, will present their 9th Annual Children's Dance Festival on the King Park Lawn, 150th Street and Jamaica Avenue, Jamaica, on Saturday, June 7, at 2:30 P.M.

Twelve individual dances are on the program which will have as a finale, a square dance in which all of the dancers will participate.

The youngsters spend many diverting and instructive weeks in preparing for their spring festival. Under the direction of the recreation staff of the Park Department, they help to make their costumes and pass sociable hours with their friends in perfecting their dance routines. They learn the many details that make up the presentation of a dance and the production of a festival. This knowledge heightens their appreciation and enjoyment of professional performances which they attend later in life.

The dances on Saturday's program and the playgrounds participating in them are:

Waltz of the Flowers	Liberty Park
Barbarian Polka	Von Dohlen and Jamaica & 179th Street Playgrounds
Spanish Fantasy	St. Albans and Union Hall Playgrounds

Sunflower Dance	Dry Harbor and Jackson Pond Playgrounds
Syncopated Clock	O'Connell and Laureilton Playgrounds
Little Red Shoes	Jackson Heights Playground
Shrimp Boats	Flushing Memorial, P.S. 20, Raymond O'Connor, and Kissena Playgrounds
Scottish Sword Dance	P.S. 162, 165, 173, and Cunningham Playgrounds
Swedish Schottische	Linden Park, Newtown, P.S. 175, and Corona & 102nd Street Playgrounds.

The Department of Parks announces the opening of the new bathhouse at Great Kills Park in Richmond on May 30, 1952, at 9:00 A.M.

Great Kills Park and Beach, a major project in New York City's great waterfront development and reclamation program, is patterned after Jones Beach in Long Island and Orchard Beach in the Bronx. The 1,300 acre park, when completed, will include, in addition to the existing beach, bathhouse and parking area; a 10,000 foot boardwalk, boat house, athletic fields, playgrounds, walks, bicycle paths, 5,000 car parking field, picnic areas and a pitch putt golf course.

The new 6,600 locker bathhouse is constructed of gray brick and limestone and designed to quickly and efficiently serve a maximum number of people. The planned sequence of operation from entrance to beach exit with parallel facilities for men and women, starts at the cashiers booths at the north end of the building. Along the passage to the locker areas are the key issue counter, suit and towel rental section and valuables checking counters. Within the brick walled locker areas are individual roofed sections branching off from the main circulation. Each section includes dressing areas, lockers, and showers. Comfort stations are located at the end of the main circulation. Additional areas in the bathhouse include lost children, police, first-aid and employees' rooms. Immediately to the north, foundations have been built for a large concession building. Pending completion, temporary food and refreshment facilities have been built in the bathhouse.

Park employees and equipment, at present, are grading an area adjacent to the existing parking field, where an additional 900 cars may be parked. This work will be completed the early part of June and this temporary parking field will be used on peak days to take care of the increase in attendance expected with the opening of the new bathhouse.

Great Kills Park has had a long and complicated history. Arrangements were made in 1928 for transfers of lands to the Park Department and in 1932, 1934 and 1940, various areas were acquired to complete the park area as it is today. Largely underwater or swampy, the site required extensive bulkheading before development could begin. With Federal relief funds and with Federal River and Harbor funds, supplemented with matching City money, Great Kills Harbor was dredged, bulkheading completed and hydraulic fill pumped in to substantially complete the beach.

As a part of the large scale Department of Sanitation, Department of Parks cooperative City-wide land fill program, 15,000,000 cubic yards were placed in the area between the beach and Hylan Boulevard to form the major portion of the park area. Starting in 1948, surface development contracts have been let for construction of basic utilities, an entrance road, a thousand car portion of the ultimate parking field, walks and two comfort stations.

The main entrance road is the southerly terminal of Willowbrook Parkway which will eventually be extended to Bayonne Bridge at the north and interconnect with proposed Richmond Parkway and Clove Lakes Expressway. Present access is by Hylan Boulevard with direct bus shuttle service to the beach.

Open to the public on a limited basis on July 1, 1949, Great Kills Park has become a popular recreational facility. The opening of the bathhouse marks the second major step in surface development. The completion of the park area will be undertaken as funds become available.

To maintain and operate the beach and new bathhouse, additional personnel including lifeguards, attendants, ticket agents and first-aid workers will be added to the regular forces.

The following is a schedule of the rates to be charged:
Parking 25¢; lockers - children up to and including 14 years of age 15¢, adults 25¢, with a lost key charge of 25¢; towel rental 15¢ with a deposit of 50¢; bathing suit rental 50¢ with a deposit of $1.00; beach chairs and umbrellas 50¢ with a deposit of $2.00.

The old refrains will ring out in New York City parks next week when borough competitions in the 18th Annual American Ballad Contest are conducted by the Department of Parks each weekday evening, Monday through Friday.

Some of the singers competing in the Manhattan contest are truly representative of the Gay Nineties when barber shop harmony was new. The ages of one of the quartets total to 318 years!

Each of the borough events will feature special musical attractions in addition to the competitive numbers. Enjoyable spring evenings of song and entertainment have been planned for the public. The borough contests will be held each evening at 8:30 P.M. as follows:

Monday	June 2	Manhattan	- Mall, Central Park, 72nd Street and West Drive
Tuesday	June 3	Queens	- Music Grove, Forest Park, west of Woodhaven Boulevard
Wednesday	June 4	Richmond	- Clove Lakes Park, Clove Road and Victory Boulevard
Thursday	June 5	Bronx	- Mullaly Recreation Center, Jerome Avenue and 164th Street
Friday	June 6	Brooklyn	- Music Grove, Prospect Park, Lincoln Road Entrance

The winning quartet from each borough will be eligible to compete in the city-wide finals to be held on the Mall in Central Park on Wednesday evening, June 11 at 8:30 P.M.

No tickets are necessary for any of these events and the public is cordially invited to attend them as guests of the Park Department.

Form 1-1-1-20M-1101100(51) 114

The Department of Parks announces the completion and the opening for public usage of a playground located at Madison Street between Catherine and Oliver Streets, adjacent to P. S. #1, in the Borough of Manhattan.

This .5 acre playground is located in the vicinity of the Governor Alfred E. Smith Housing Project. It is the second area of three, which was part and plan of this project, to provide recreational facilities for residents of both the Housing Project and the surrounding neighborhood.

The improvement contains a basketball court, swings, slides, and a jungle gym; the perimeter has been landscaped with shade trees.

With the addition of this playground, there are now 573 playgrounds in the park system.

Little by little and without stultifying compromises our new metropolitan arterial system is being built to agreed plans which represent the combined efforts of many public agencies, federal, regional, state and municipal. The parkways, expressways, thruways and turnpikes financed by a dozen different appropriations, aid and toll devices, make the metropolis accessible and aim belatedly to catch up with the miracles of assembly line motor production. We have in most instances successfully overcome the multiple threats of federal domination, states' rights, municipal home rule and authority independence.

The system comprises belts or concentric circles, spokes and laterals. The watercrossings, vital components of first importance, include the interstate toll bridges and tunnels between New York and New Jersey under The Port of New York Authority, those wholly within the city of New York under the Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority and the free bridges within the city under the City Department of Public Works. The arterials include the Palisades Parkway in New York and New Jersey under the Palisades Interstate Park Commission, the New Jersey highway approaches governed by the State Highway Department of New Jersey, the

New Jersey Turnpike constructed by the New Jersey Turnpike Authority, the State and Federal Arterial Highway Systems, the New York Thruway under the New York State Thruway Authority, the state and county parkway systems in Westchester, the parkways of New York and Long Island, and pieces or sections of the system in New York City under construction by the offices of the Borough Presidents and the Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority.

From administrative, planning, engineering and financial aspects, these projects probably have no parallel in complexity and extensiveness here or in any other country. The cordial relations which have been established by the many agencies involved in the integration of the program have made relatively smooth and steady progress possible. The public seldom hears about the day by day construction of huge coordinated programs, built in a businesslike way and without fanfare or waste. To the normal headaches of land acquisition, clearance, demolition and construction have been added in recent years the problems of inflation, material controls and tenant relocation which is complicated by the housing shortage.

The new tunnel under West 179th Street, paral-

telling the existing one under West 178th Street, leads to the George Washington Bridge and the Traffic Interchange in Highbridge Park which in turn provides connections with the Harlem River Drive and the Deegan and Cross-Bronx Expressways. The Port of New York Authority constructed this new tunnel at a cost of $9,000,000. The State Department of Public Works with Federal Highway Aid, supervised the construction of the Traffic Interchange, at a cost of $5,300,000. The Traffic Interchange required the relocation and rebuilding of the Highbridge Pumping Station, the cost of which was divided between the State and the City of New York. It also required the reconstruction of a portion of Highbridge Park.

The State Department of Public Works is currently constructing Cross-Bronx Expressway, leading from this Interchange across The Bronx to Bruckner Boulevard in the vicinity of the Bronx-Whitestone Bridge approach. Cross-Bronx Expressway, including the $5,300,000 Highbridge Interchange, will cost $58,000,000. Land amounting to $20,000,000 is being acquired by the City and State. Included in the Cross-Bronx Expressway is the magnificent old Washington Bridge across the Harlem River. This bridge was widened, repaved and a center divider was installed. It will before long have to be doubled in capacity by virtually adding another bridge next to it.

The Harlem River Drive, leading from the Highbridge Interchange to the Franklin D. Roosevelt Drive at the approach to the Triborough Bridge, is under construction by the Borough President of Manhattan. This project, estimated to cost $31,000,000, is being paid for out of New York City funds as an assessable improvement.

Another cooperative enterprise is the joint project being constructed by The Port of New York Authority and the Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority as the first stage in a new traffic interchange between the George Washington Bridge and the Henry Hudson Parkway. This project, costing $1,328,000 will eliminate the only remaining grade crossing and traffic lights on the parkway.

The Commissioners of The Port of New York Authority in March 1952 agreed to spend $628,000 in further improvements of connections to the George Washington Bridge in Manhattan. The main feature of the improvement will be the widening of West 178th Street by two additional traffic lanes for the block immediately east of the bridge plaza between Fort Washington Avenue and Broadway, and provision of off-street bus loading and unloading with a pedestrian underpass connection to the 175th Street station of the Independent Subway. The bus platforms will provide space for sixteen buses to unload simultaneously in the morning rush hour when approximately 8,000 passengers alight from interstate buses and seek the subway. There will also be a loading platform with six bus positions for picking up passengers to board New Jersey-bound buses at the George Washington Bridge plaza.

Studies are being made for a traffic interchange between the Cross-Bronx Expressway and Major Deegan Expressway. The State, with Federal Aid, is pushing the construction of Major Deegan Expressway, running from the Triborough Bridge to the beginning of the New York State Thruway at the Westchester line.

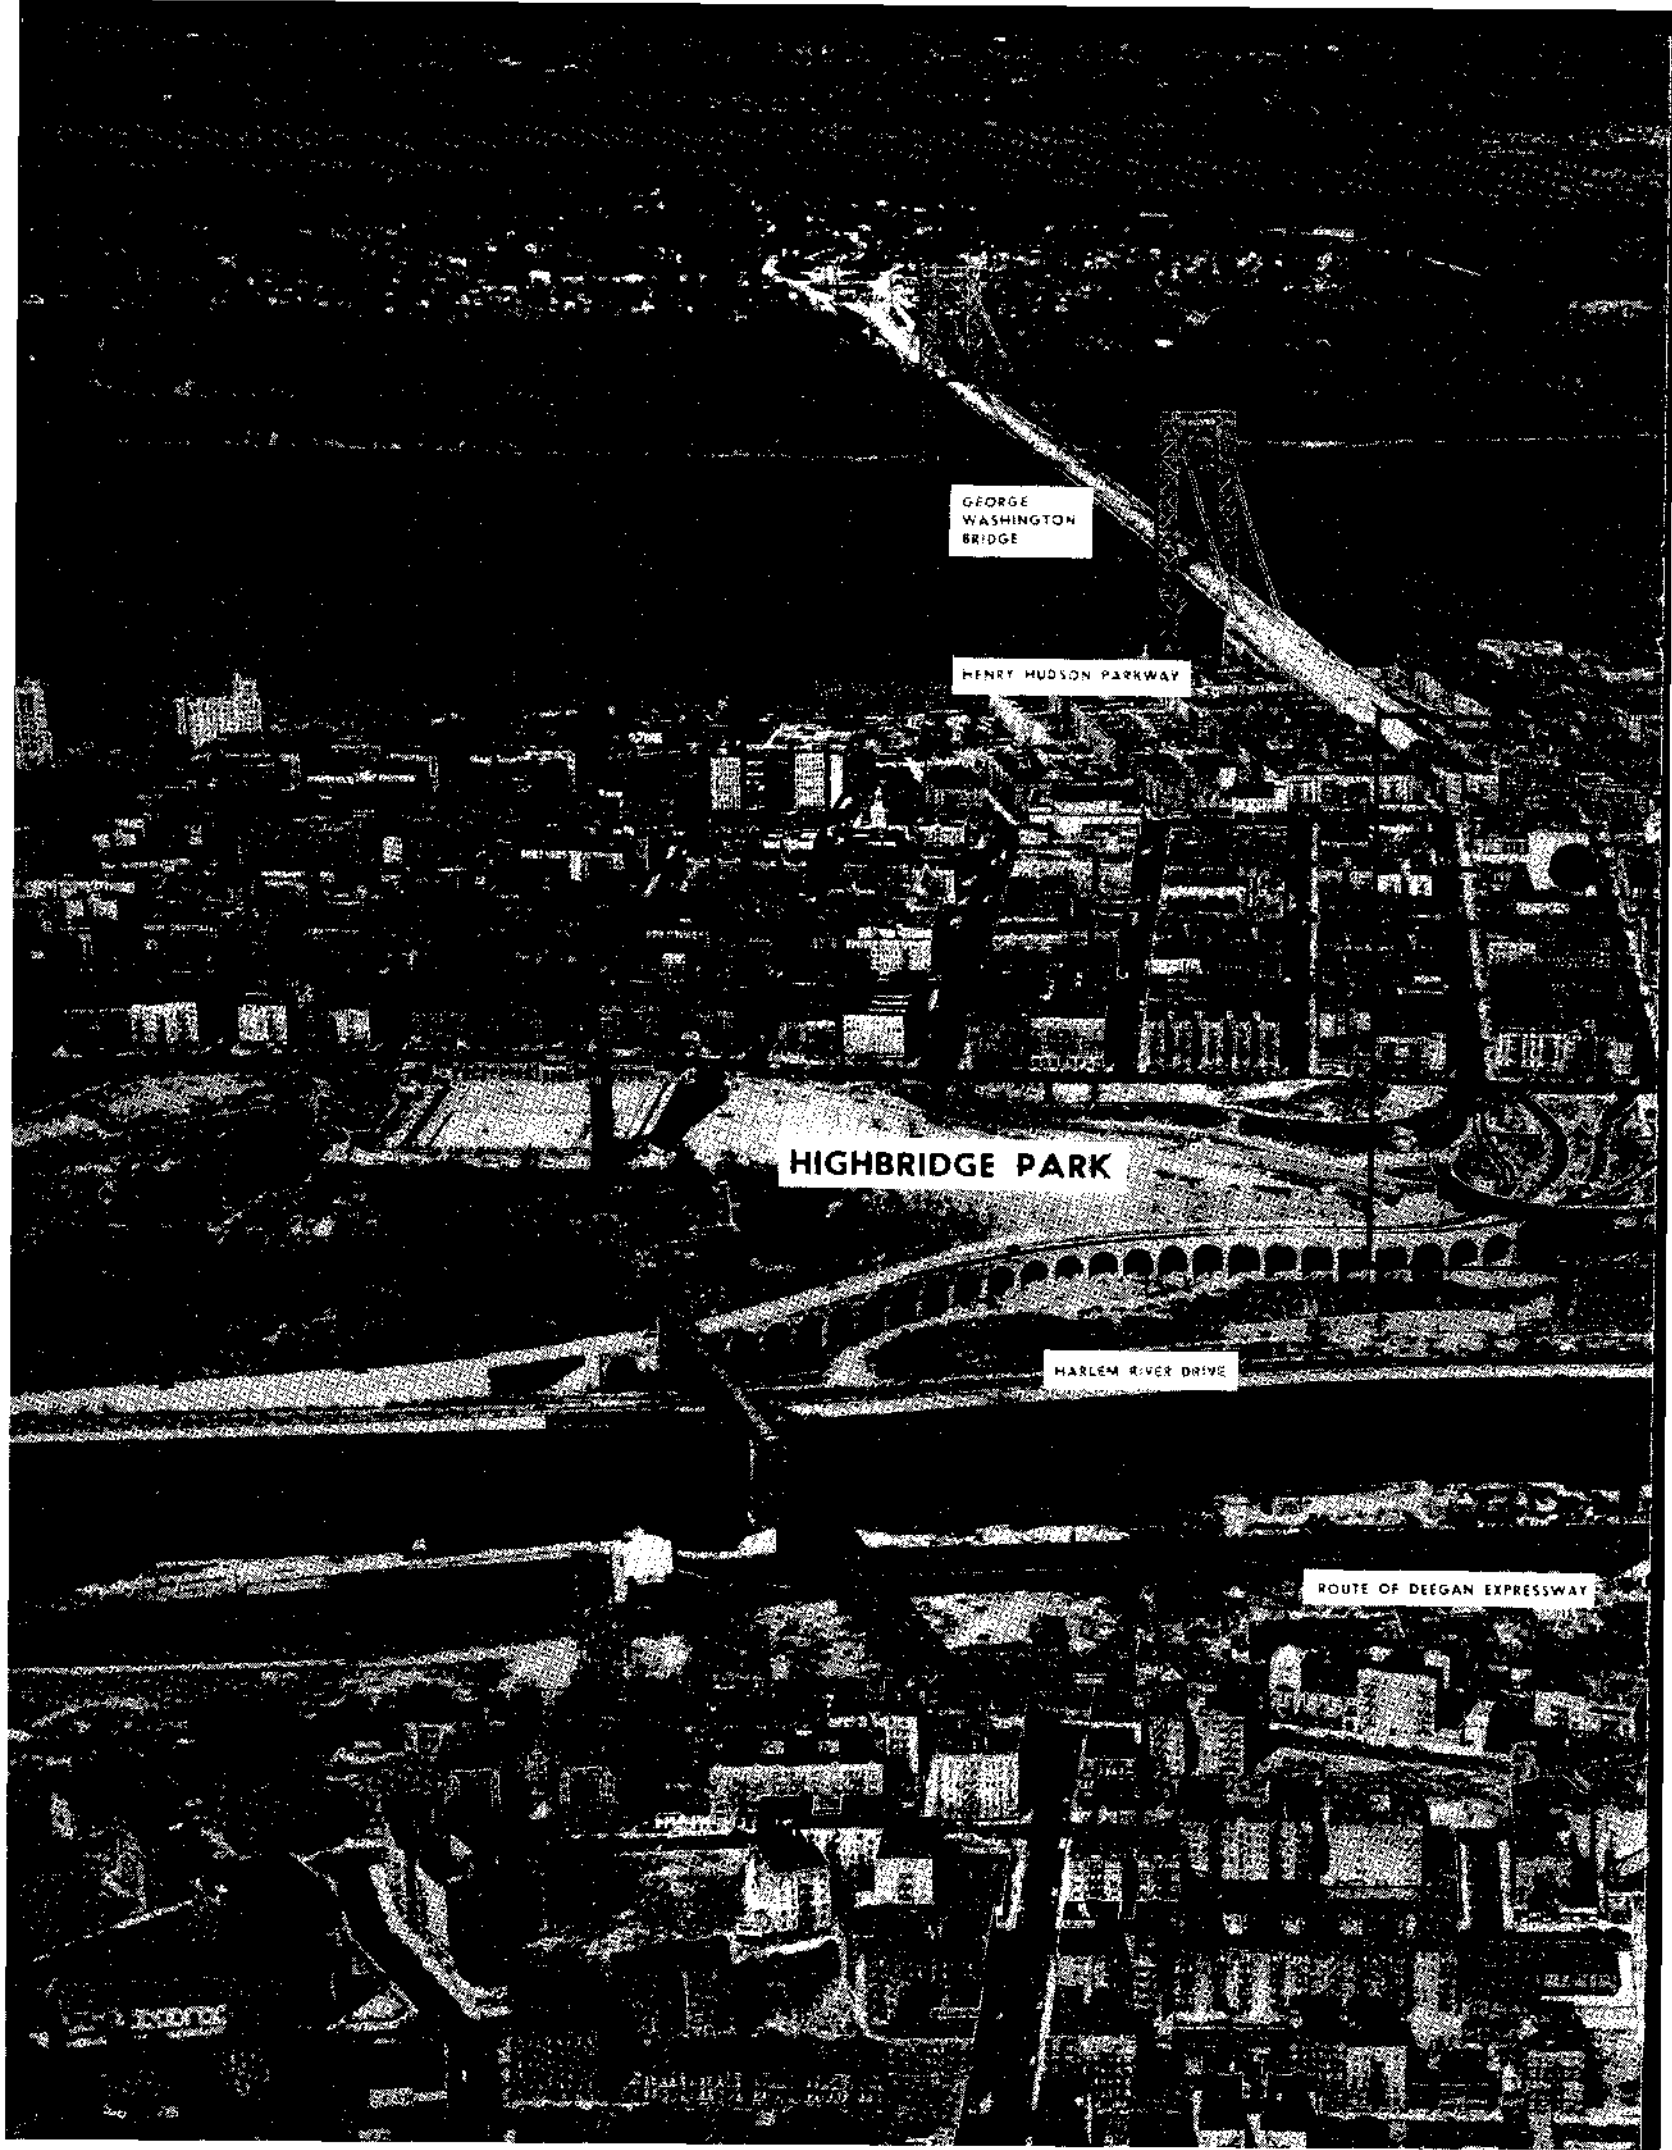

Under the supervision of the Palisades Interstate Park Commission and on land dedicated or otherwise acquired by the Commission, the Palisades Parkway is being constructed by the State Highway Department of the State of New Jersey and the State Department of Public Works of the State of New York. This parkway leads directly from Bear Mountain Park, with connections to the Catskill Mountains area, to the George Washington Bridge, where The Port of New York Authority proposes to spend $3,735,000 for a new traffic interchange to relieve overburdened local New Jersey highways.

The New Jersey State highway program is closely linked to that of The Port of New York Authority. The Garden State Parkway, eventually to run from one end of the State of New Jersey to the other, will terminate a few miles west of the George Washington Bridge. The New Jersey Turnpike Authority has completed and opened to traffic the 130-mile Turnpike, leading from the approaches to the George Washington Bridge to the new Delaware Memorial Bridge.

Another important artery which will feed traffic into the Highbridge Interchange and the new tunnel to the George Washington Bridge is the New England Thruway, which will tap the entire New England area. This traffic will reach New York by way of the easterly branch of the New York State Thruway and other links including the Bronx River Expressway which is financed as part of the current

The bridge's massive steel structure, including its two prominent towers and the approach viaducts, dominates the upper right portion of the frame. Below the bridge, the dense city grid of Manhattan is visible, with numerous buildings and streets. A large, open area of land, identified as Highbridge Park, is situated below the bridge and to the left of the Harlem River Drive. The Harlem River Drive is a multi-lane highway that runs horizontally across the middle of the image. In the lower right, the route of the Deegan Expressway is indicated. The overall image has a grainy, high-contrast quality, typical of older newspaper print reproductions.

$80,000,000 Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority approach program.

Every arterial improvement necessitates changes in local veins, feeders and streets and an entirely new pattern of vehicular and pedestrian movement.

The 300-mile restricted parkway system in New York City, on Long Island and in Westchester, connects with virtually all of the important river crossings in New York City and is being constantly extended and improved. We aim to provide as comprehensive a system for mixed traffic.

All of the administrative agencies which combine to realize this program depend upon the understanding support of numerous elected officials who are the direct representatives of the people and to whom the appointed officials are immediately responsible. The openings here today give ample evidence that such support has been generously given.

The 179th Street Tunnel, built by The Port of New York Authority at a cost of $9,000,000, provides a two-lane, sub-surface westbound connection between the Harlem River Drive, the 181st Street Bridge, the Cross Bronx Expressway and the George Washington Bridge. The two-lane 178th Street Tunnel, which the Port Authority built and opened in 1940, will be used for eastbound traffic from the bridge. The new tunnel is 2,400 feet long. Construction was begun March 17, 1949, and the tunnel's reinforced concrete shell was completed on June 21, 1951.

The 179th Street Tunnel is part of a $40,000,000 long-range approach-improvement program to expedite George Washington Bridge traffic, which on Sunday, April 20, hit a new single-day high of 114,000 vehicles. Altogether, approaches to Port Authority bridges and tunnels have cost almost $110,000,000.

The $5,300,000 Highbridge Interchange, the connecting link between the George Washington Bridge, via the approach tunnels, and the Cross-Bronx Expressway and Harlem River Drive features a soaring 2 lane viaduct supported on a single row of long slender columns. The construction of the interchange required extensive reconstruction in Highbridge Park including promenades and walks and construction of a new pumping station and playground. As the westerly terminus of the Cross-Bronx Expressway, the old Washington Bridge over the Harlem River has been widened and provisions have been made for future additional capacity.

The Interchange, part of the $750,000,000 city arterial program is essential in linking the north and Long Island via Major Deegan Expressway, Cross-Bronx Expressway, Bronx River Expressway and the Triborough Crossings to the New Jersey Turnpike, New Jersey State highways and the west.

The Department of Parks announces the completion and opening to the general public of a new playground at Marble Hill Avenue between West 228th Street and West 230th Street in the Borough of Manhattan.

The construction of this 2.5 acre playground was part of the plan and project of the "Marble Hill Houses" and was constructed and paid for by the New York City Housing Authority. It will provide recreation for all age groups residing both in the housing project and in the surrounding community.

The new recreational area is located at the west side of the housing project and is built in three sections for control purposes. One of the northerly sections contains a basketball court and two handball courts, and the other section contains an area for small fry, with slides, swings, see-saws, jungle gym, wading pool, sand pit and a comfort station. Benches for guardians of children are also provided for in this area. A softball field has been constructed on the southerly section.

The perimeter of the area has been enclosed with a chain link fence and is landscaped with shade trees.

With the addition of this playground, there are now 573 playgrounds in the expanded park system.

The City-wide Championships of the Annual Department of Parks Boxing Tournament, sponsored by Honorary Deputy Police Commissioner Maurice Rosenfeld, will be conducted at the 69th Regiment Armory, 26th Street and Lexington Avenue, on Friday evening, April 25, at 8:00 P.M. Four junior, five intermediate, and four senior division matches are on the program which is sanctioned by the Metropolitan Association of the Amateur Athletic Association.

The boys participating in the championships are the best of more than 600 boys registered at the 17 Department of Parks boxing centers located throughout the city. These centers opened for the season last October and instruction and training classes have been conducted daily by specially trained instructors of the park recreation division.

Elimination contests were held throughout April, beginning with borough championships. The winners of these bouts were matched in the city-wide semi-finals held April 14 and 18.

Friday evening's contenders for the city-wide championships will be matched as follows:

SECOND ANNUAL CONEY ISLAND FISHING CONTEST
TO BE HELD SATURDAY AND SUNDAY, MAY 17, 18

Conducted by New York City Park Department,
Sponsored by Nathan's Famous Restaurant of Coney Island

The second annual Coney Island fishing contest for men, women, boys and girls will be held on the weekend of May 17-18 at Steeplechase Pier, under the sponsorship of Nathan's Famous, Coney Island restaurant, it was announced today by the Department of Parks, who will conduct the contest. Prizes of fishing equipment valued at approximately $1,000. and donated by the sponsor, will be awarded to the winners.

In announcing the date of the second annual contest, the Park Department stated that more than 1200 small fry and adults of both sexes competed in the 1951 event, held on October 27 and 28. With the date of the contest switched to May, the height of the Coney Island fishing season, the Park Department announced that an even greater amount of interest is anticipated.

Applications for the contest are now available at all Park Department playgrounds throughout the city, and at Nathan's Famous, Surf and Stillwell Avenues, Coney Island. The contest will be divided into four parts: pier fishing for boys and girls to age 16 on Saturday, May 17, and pier and surf casting for men and women over 16, on Sunday, May 18. Only conventional fishing will be permitted.

The Department of Parks announces the abandonment of the playground at Hygeia Place and Grove Street, Stapleton, Staten Island.

This small playground was developed some twenty-five years ago. At that time, the local neighborhood was without recreational facilities and there was a heavy popular demand for the establishment of a playground. The site at Hygeia Place and Grove Street was vacant, no taxes had been paid since 1898, ownership was ambiguous and the former Park Commissioner, John J. O'Rourke, took possession of the property and developed it with play apparatus for the neighborhood children. The playground served the neighborhood well over the years until in March 1951, when the new playground was developed and opened adjacent to P.S. 14, only four short blocks away. This playground, being constructed on modern standards, has attracted the neighborhood children to the point where usage of the Hygeia Place area has dwindled to practically zero. Further maintenance of the old site is not worthwhile.

This is the first time in eighteen years that the department has announced a reduction in the number of playgrounds in the park system. In 1934, there were 119 playgrounds. The roster is now reduced by one from 572 to 571, but the loss will be recouped tomorrow with the opening of a new playground at Little Neck Parkway between 42nd and 43rd Avenue, Queens.

The Park Department announces that the Michael Friedsam Foundation through John Burke, President of B. Altman & Company has generously donated $100,000 for a new carousel and building in Prospect Park to replace the old merry-go-round which burned down. The new building will be erected on a site located between the new Zoo Area and the Willinck Entrance near Flatbush Avenue and Empire Boulevard, and will be known as the Michael Friedsam Memorial, after Michael F. Friedsam, widely known philanthropist, former president of B. Altman & Company, and president of the Fifth Avenue Association from 1925 to the time of his death in 1931. A bronze commemorative plaque will be placed on the structure.

The structure will be brick, with a slate roof, cupola, octagonal in shape and approximately seventy-eight feet in diameter. It will harmonize with the adjacent structures in Prospect Park, and a duplicate of the Michael Friedsam Memorial carousel building in Central Park which was built last year and donated to the children of New York City by the Michael Friedsam Foundation.

It will be recalled that the old Central Park carousel burned down on November 8, 1950. Many nostalgic citizens and civic-minded organizations wanted to help replace the old merry-go-round so dear to the youngsters of New York City since 1871.

The Park Department received a carousel organ and mechanism as a gift from the Board of Transportation which acquired it when the city took over the BMT Trolley Terminal, Surf Avenue and West 5th Street, Coney Island, where the carousel was located at the time of transit unification. It was taken apart and transferred to the Park Department shops where craftsmen repaired the handsome handcarved wooden horses, animals, and chariots. The new carousel was dedicated and opened to the public on July 2, 1951.

Now Brooklyn's thousands of youngsters will again have their own merry-go-round in the park in the heart of their borough thanks to the generosity of Mr. Burke and his associates.

The New York Community Trust
c/o Mr. Ralph Hayes, Director
250 Park Avenue
New York 17, New York

Dear Ralph:

Following your suggestion that the New York Community Trust might be able to help in some way to combat vandalism in City Parks, I discussed this question with magistrates concerned with the children's courts, school officials and others. It was the general opinion that the most effective single remedy is to pass a local law making parents of children committing vandalism in parks and playgrounds subject to a small fine.

One of our toughest problems in operating the New York City park and playground system and protecting the people who use it is that of vandalism by children. By this, I do not mean merely normal wear and tear of equipment and landscaping, but deliberate and wilful acts of destruction. Vandalism in our city has reached alarming proportions. The damage is not only to City property, but lack of control over a minority of troublemakers makes many areas unsafe for the great majority of well behaved children and respectable parents.

At my request, the Park Association of New York City retained Henry Epstein, former State Solicitor General, to draft the law which is presented now with the opinion that such an act is constitutional.

I asked representatives of the clergy to comment on this effort and their replies are printed in this booklet.

I shall ask that this local law be enacted by the Council.

I wish to thank the Park Association for sponsoring this law and doing much of the work in connection with it. Henry Epstein contributed exhaustive search into the legality of this act and his work was complete, as might be expected from this distinguished lawyer. It is, of course, understood that the Community Trust confined itself to furnishing aid without assuming responsibility for the form or formulation of this resulting plan. Nothing would have been possible, however, without your realization that something must be done about vandalism and arranging for the Community Trust to furnish funds to pay for this essential preparatory work.

Sincerely,

ROBERT MOSES

Hon. Robert Moses
Commissioner of Parks
Arsenal, Central Park
New York 21, New York

Dear Commissioner Moses:

The Park Association received through the New York Community Trust funds from the late Mildred Anna Williams and the late Lucy Wortham James to help combat vandalism in City parks and playgrounds.

At your suggestion, we retained former State Solicitor General Henry Epstein to draft a local law to make parents of children wilfully destroying City property subject to a fine. Mr. Epstein has completed his work, which included painstaking search into the constitutionality of such an act. The draft of a local law is now given to you along with an opinion as to its constitutionality. This opinion is backed up by a sustaining memorandum too complete to reproduce in this report.

The statistics and pictures in this pamphlet speak louder than any words for the need of such a law. The proposed law is not drastic and will not antagonize the overwhelming proportion of good citizens who have respect for public property. The maximum fine of $25 will not pay for the parks and replacement of facilities destroyed by all acts of mischief. Application of this law will not by itself stop all vandalism, but it is the one single thing which will be most effective. In addition, there must be constant watchfulness by all citizens so that the wilful destruction of virtually irreplaceable recreation facilities is stopped.

The Park Association sponsors this proposed local law because we know of no other effective attack on an increasingly serious problem.

Sincerely,

Gentlemen:

As agreed, I transmit draft of the proposed anti-vandalism law:

"THE PARENT, GUARDIAN OR OTHER PERSON HAVING CUSTODY OF A CHILD UNDER THE AGE OF SIXTEEN YEARS, WHO OMITTS TO EXERCISE REASONABLE DILIGENCE IN THE CONTROL OF SUCH CHILD TO PREVENT SUCH CHILD FROM BECOMING GUILTY OF JUVENILE DELINQUENCY AS DEFINED BY STATUTE, WHERE SUCH DELINQUENCY CONSTITUTES THE WILFUL DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK, MAY BE FINED AN AMOUNT COMMENSURATE WITH THE DAMAGE DONE, BUT IN NO CASE TO EXCEED THE SUM OF $25.00."

The memorandum of law submitted with the proposed draft substantiates my opinion that such a law would be constitutional.

It is also my view that prompt enactment of this measure will do much to protect public property.

Sincerely,

HENRY EPSTEIN

CATHEDRAL HEIGHTS
NEW YORK 25, NEW YORK

Dear Mr. Moses:

I have recently learned of the proposed legislation to prevent vandalism in our City parks. I am writing to say that in my opinion this measure would help a great deal in the preservation of public property and be a deterrent to vandalism in the parks and elsewhere.

Very truly yours,

Dear Commissioner Moses:

I am very sympathetic to the solution for vandalism by children outlined in your letter of October 16. Basically the parents are responsible, and the assessment of a fine ought to have a salutary effect and make them more aware of their responsibility.

You may be certain that you have my support in this objective, and I shall be very glad to help you in any way possible.

With best wishes, I am

Cordially yours,

My dear Commissioner:

Last fall you asked me to talk with Earle Andrews regarding vandalism in the parks of New York City.

I was very much impressed with the suggestion of Mr. Andrews that something be done to make parents responsible for controlling their children. It seems to me that you are on the right path. We should have a law so that when children destroy public property it will be possible to hold parents responsible.

It seems to me that such a law would be a step forward in strengthening the moral fiber of our community. We must depend upon homes and families for moral upbringing. Anything that brings home to parents that they have a responsibility for the right conduct of their children and must bear some of the blame when children's conduct is not right, will be helpful.

Sincerely yours,

PAUL WOLFE

Dear Mr. Moses:

I have your letter of October 16th in which you advise me of the plan to make parents responsible for vandalism perpetrated in the city parks.

It is my belief that the idea is an excellent one and I express the hope that a local law will soon be passed to effect it.

With best wishes, I remain

The Department of Parks announces the birth of three baby aoudads in the Central Park Zoo.

Aoudads which were first introduced to the Central Park Zoo in 1939, are Barbary sheep found along the Barbary coast of North Africa; however, the parents of these offspring all saw light of day here. Ironically, "Rocky", the sire of these offspring, passed away a short time ago and will not be around to hand out cigars.

Lilly's baby was born on April 4, 1952; Osa's baby was born on April 5, 1952; and Carolyn's baby was born on April 7, 1952, each weighing 10 lbs. and doing nicely.

Pictures may be taken after 9:00 a.m., Friday, April 11, 1952.

25 cents entitles the permit holder to play on weekdays at any of the ten courses and an additional charge of 50 cents is made on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays per round.

For non-permit holders, the daily fee from Monday through Friday will be $1.00, and $1.25 on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays, per round.

The Department has been experimenting for the past three years with several strains of newly developed grasses that are tougher than those previously in use. During the past season, in order to maintain a surface more able to stand the heavy useage, some of these grasses have been introduced into the new tees on a few courses. This work will be continued as more material becomes available.

The construction of the Major Deegan Highway through Van Cortlandt Park Golf Course by the New York City Department of Public Works, has not yet been completed, but the completion of four new holes guarantees 18-hole play at all times during the coming season. The remodeled course in its final form will not be in full use until certain strips of the new highway are paved and Gun Hill Road can be shut off to permit the completion of construction on the golf course.

A Trout Fishing Tournament will be conducted on Oakland Lake, Springfield Boulevard and 47th Avenue, Queens, beginning Saturday, April 12th, and continuing through Sunday, September 7th. Competition is open to any person who may legally take trout in New York State.

The tournament was conceived by Harry Wall, a staunch Conservationist and Sportsman of Flushing. Mr. Wall not only sold his idea to the State Department of Conservation, but is largely responsible for the contribution of the numerous valuable prizes.

Oakland Lake has always been a popular fishing spot. In 1947, it was stocked experimentally with brook trout, and while some of these original immigrants are reputed to be still in the lake, the number actually taken by fishermen were so small that the State Conservation Department considered it an uneconomical venture.

In preparation for the forthcoming tournament, the Conservation Department during October, 1951, placed 550 brown trout from Cold Spring Harbor Hatchery in Oakland Lake. Most of these fish were in the 8-9" class but there were several running up to 16", which should stimulate the interest of the angler.

In order to obtain accurate information on their survival and growth, all fish in this planting were marked with tags or by clipping fins. 385 were marked with numbered metal tags on the jaw; 100 with celluloid disks attached under the dorsal fin; and on 64 fish the small adipose fin just back of the dorsal fin was removed. All fish were weighed and measured for the record. To allow these "tame" fish a chance to acquire the wariness of wild trout, no fishing has been permitted at Oakland Lake since the stocking because trout, once hooked, are often fatally injured even though quickly returned to the water.

It is expected that the prizes offered in the tournament will encourage anglers to have their fish weighed and recorded, which will permit the development of an accurate record on the survival and rate of growth of the fish in Oakland Lake. This record will provide the State Conservation Department with data which will determine whether or not future stocking of this type may be worthwhile.

The tournament will be conducted in three stages and prizes will be awarded as follows:

OPENING WEEKEND: Prizes to be awarded Sunday, April 13, at 4:00 p.m.

- a) Prize for largest tagged trout
- b) Prize for largest untagged trout (It is believed that a number of brook trout are occupants of the lake)
- c) Prize to youngest boy angler catching a trout
- d) Prize to youngest girl angler catching a trout

MID-SEASON: Prizes awarded June 9 at 4:00 p.m. by drawings from all tags returned to date.

CLOSING WEEKEND: Prizes awarded September 7th, as follows:

- a) Prize for largest trout - tagged or untagged
- b) Prize based on drawings, if desirable

The Bayside Sports Shop, 39-29 Bell Boulevard, Bayside, Queens, run by Cy Phillips, will be the weighing-in station. They will weigh and measure fish and collect tags as well as keep records of the season's catch. On Sundays during the contest, someone will be at the shop solely for this purpose. Prizes donated for the contest will eventually be on display at the shop. Lucky anglers will receive prizes ranging from various types of rods, reels, leaders, lines, lures, flies and fly tying kits, gift certificates, fishing boots, books, and jackets.

Attached is a list of prizes and donors. They deserve the utmost credit for their generosity, since it is only through their gifts that this tournament is possible.

The Department of Parks announces the completion of construction and the opening for public use of a new playground at Riverside Park, just north of Grant's Tomb.

This one-acre playground occupies the site of the old Claremont Inn. Four years ago, the Claremont had deteriorated to such a degree that the City was faced with the choice of spending close to a quarter of a million dollars for restoration to permit its continued use as a restaurant, or with demolishing it and developing the site for other use. The latter course was adopted by the Board of Estimate and this new playground is the result.

The need for additional active play facilities has been felt in this neighborhood for many years. The only other area available has been Sakura Park across the Drive between International House and Riverside Church, but this park was designed only for passive use and because it made no provision for the active children of the neighborhood, both it and adjacent areas of Riverside Park suffered considerably through misuse. The new playground is designed primarily for active use by youngsters, with sand pits, swings, see-saws, a jungle gym, etc. It also provides additional benches located to provide a view of the magnificent vista of the Palisades up the Hudson.

With this addition, the City's park system now has 572 playgrounds in operation.

PARK GOLF LOCKER APPLICATIONS

The Department of Parks announces a modification of its procedure in scheduling of applications for season golf lockers.

Applications for golf lockers for the 1952 season will be accepted at all borough offices, from season golf permit holders only, from February 25th until the close of business March 15th.

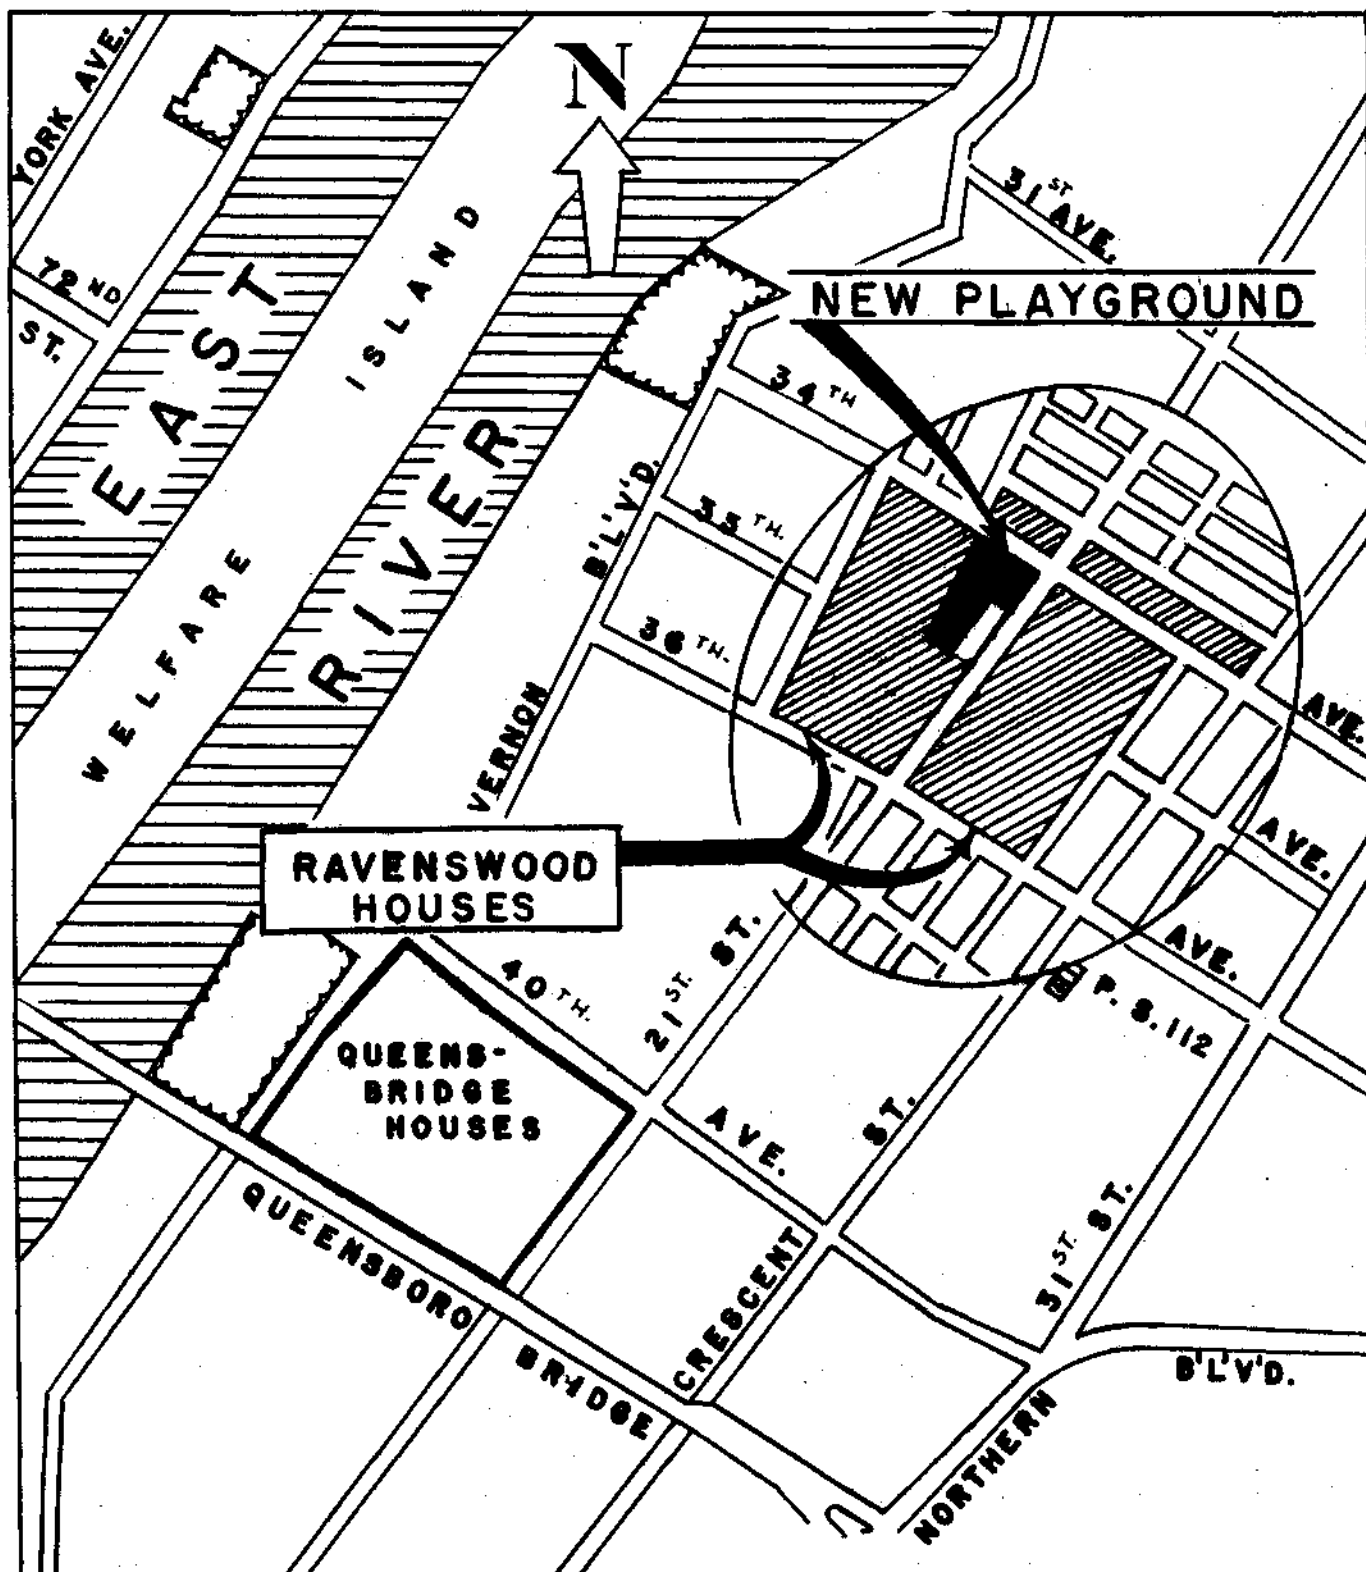

The present system of conducting a public drawing for season golf lockers at Dyker, Moshulu, Clearview and Silver Lake courses will be continued, because the demand exceeds the supply, and the drawing for these locations will be conducted March 20th at 10 A.M. at the Park Department Office of the borough in which each respective course is located.

The Department of Parks announces the completion of work in connection with the construction of and the opening to the general public of a new playground adjacent to the Ravenswood Houses, at 34th Avenue and 21st Street in the Borough of Queens.

The construction of this 2.75 acre playground was part of the plan and project of the Ravenswood Housing Project, and it provides recreation for both the tenants of the housing project and for the residents of the adjacent community.

This playground provides facilities for softball, roller skating, shuffle board, paddle tennis, basket ball, volley ball and hand ball. There is a separate area for kindergarten children which provides for see saws, swings, slides, sand pit and a wading pool. The perimeter of the development has been landscaped with shade trees. A Comfort station is also provided.

With the addition of this playground, there are now 570 playgrounds in the expanded park system.

FOR RELEASE SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1952

Pollution along the City's beaches, including Coney Island, the North Shore of Queens and Jamaica Bay will be eliminated in time for the summer bathing season by putting into operation three new sewage treatment works, it was announced last night by Public Works Commissioner Frederick H. Zurmuhlen.

The three plants, costing a total of $48,000,000 are expected to be completed and in service by June 15, he said. They are the $19,000,000 Owls Head project in Bay Ridge, Brooklyn, the $23,000,000 Hunts Point Works in the Bronx and the $6,000,000 Rockaway plant in Rockaway Park.

The three pollution control works will intercept and treat 242,000,000 gallons of raw sewage now discharged into the upper East River, the west shore of Brooklyn and Jamaica Bay.

"The total sewage from New York City is about a billion gallons a day," Zurmuhlen said.

"By putting these new plants into operation we'll be able to pick up one-fourth of this daily flow and render it harmless.

"Only one-third of the daily sewage flow will be untreated when the three plants go into service," he added.

At present 450,000,000 gallons are treated at 13 plants. Two small ones, at Hammels and Neponsit in the Rockaways, will be discontinued when the new Rockaway works goes into action.

The $2,400,000 Port Richmond plant on the North Shore of Staten Island now under construction, is expected to be finished this fall. The Oakwood Beach plant on the Staten Island east shore and the expansion of the Bowery Bay plant in Astoria, Queens to triple its capacity, are slated for completion late next year.

Contracts for the interceptor to serve the Bowery Bay extension may be let "in a couple of months," Zurmuhlen reported, and the whole plant addition is to be under contract about July. The estimated cost of the structure and sewers is $20,520,000. The project will expand treatment capacity from 40,000,000 gallons to 120,000,000 gallons a day.

The Oakwood Beach plant is in the design stage with 11 percent of the plans finished. One section of the interceptor sewer for this treatment works is under construction by Borough President Cornelius A. Hall in connection with installation of the tide gate at Mill Creek Basin. This project will have a capacity of 15,000,000 gallons daily.

"When these additional facilities are in operation," Zurmuhlen stated, "pollution will be ended in all Class 'A' waters around the City."

Class "A" waters are those used for bathing and recreation. Their restoration from pollution is embraced in the first stage of the City's sewage treatment program.

The second stage, designed for completion by the end of 1959, involves treatment of sewage entering all other waters around the City.

Pollution at Coney Island, which has been near the critical mark in recent years, will be stopped by ^{the} Owls Head plant. It will treat daily 120,000,000 gallons of sewage now pouring through huge sewer outfalls into the waters along the Brooklyn shore at 49th Street, 64th Street, Bay Ridge Avenue, 71st and 92nd Streets. The plant has a capacity of 160,000,000 gallons daily and will ultimately serve a population of 1,200,000 in the territory bounded by the shore line from Coney Island Creek to Gowanus Canal and inland as far as Eastern Parkway, Holy Cross Cemetery and Ocean Avenue, an area of 12,765 acres, including Bay Ridge, Bensonhurst, Boro Park, Prospect Park and Flatbush.

At present the sewage dumped into the waters along the west shore of Brooklyn is swept over by the currents and tides to the westerly end of the Coney Island Beaches.

A considerable portion of the sewage is carried to the Staten Island shore and it is expected that treatment at the Owls Head Plant will greatly improve conditions of the island's east shore beaches.

Zurmuhlen pointed out that $4,500,000 of the ^{$19,000,000} ~~$23,500,000~~ involved in the Owls Head project was spent on construction of two interceptor sewers and a new sludge boat.

The interceptors cost $3,151,000. They pick up the flow from the six outfall sewers now discharging into the bay. The sludge vessel cost $1,300,000. Using the dock at the Owls Head plant, it will carry the sludge residue out to sea. Part of the sludge will be used by the Park Department for building top soil in parks now under development.

Interceptor sewers in connection with the Hunts Point improvement will eliminate large outfall sewers at Throggs Neck and 177th Street on Eastchester Bay and several smaller ones west of Throggs Neck. Two interceptors and a siphon under the Bronx River are responsible for $5,000,000 of the expenditure for the Hunts Point plant.

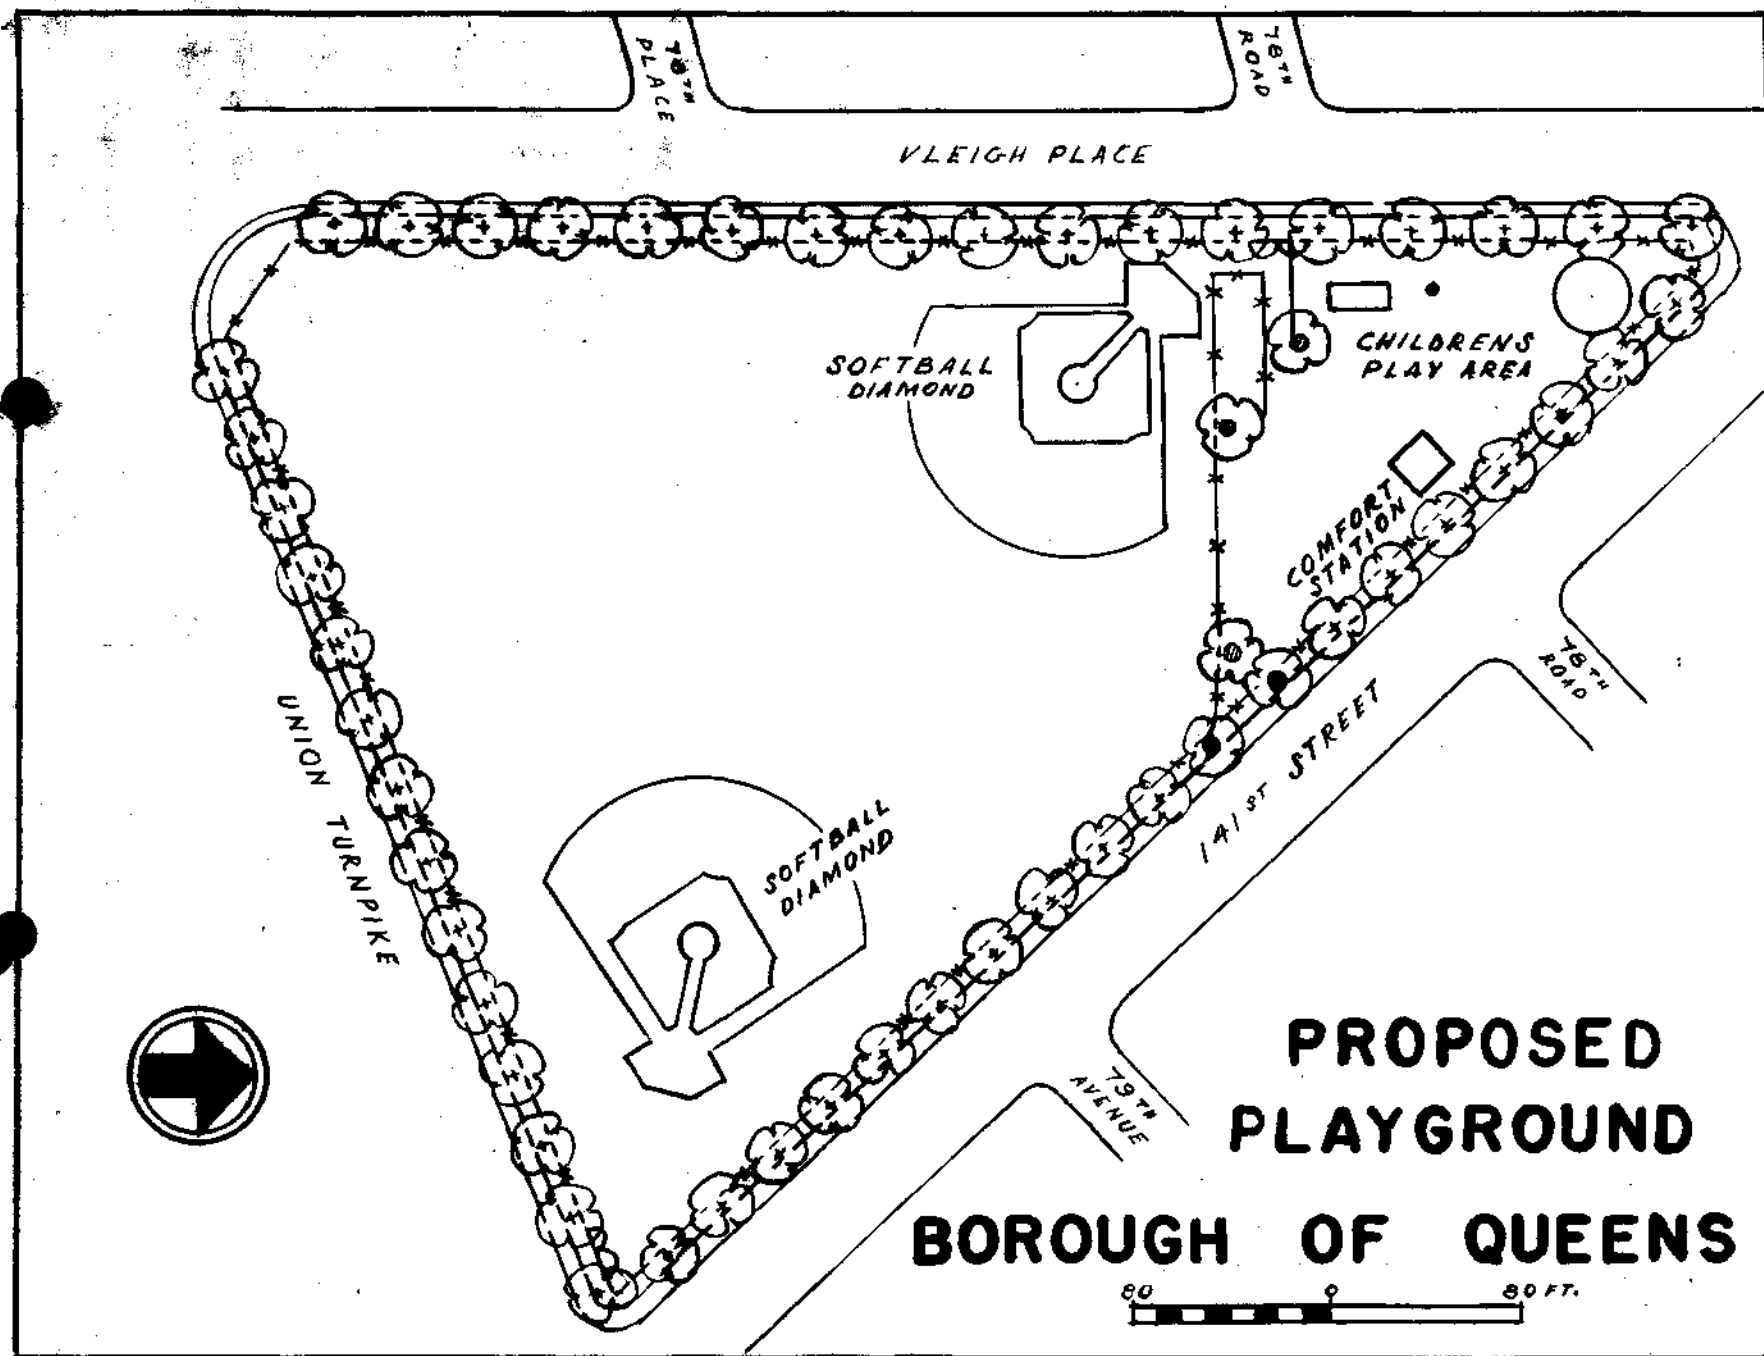

The interceptor to pick up the flow from existing sewers in the Rockaways runs four and one-quarter miles from Fort Tilden to the existing screening plant in Hammels. At that point it will pick up a trunk sewer extending from the Nassau County Line now serving the eastern half of the Rockaways, thus carrying all sewage from the peninsula to the new plant at 108th Street and Beach Channel Drive. The cost of the interceptor is $2,000,000.

The Owls Head plant will serve a predominantly residential area. It is located north of the 69th Street ferry and adjoins the Long Island Railroad yard.

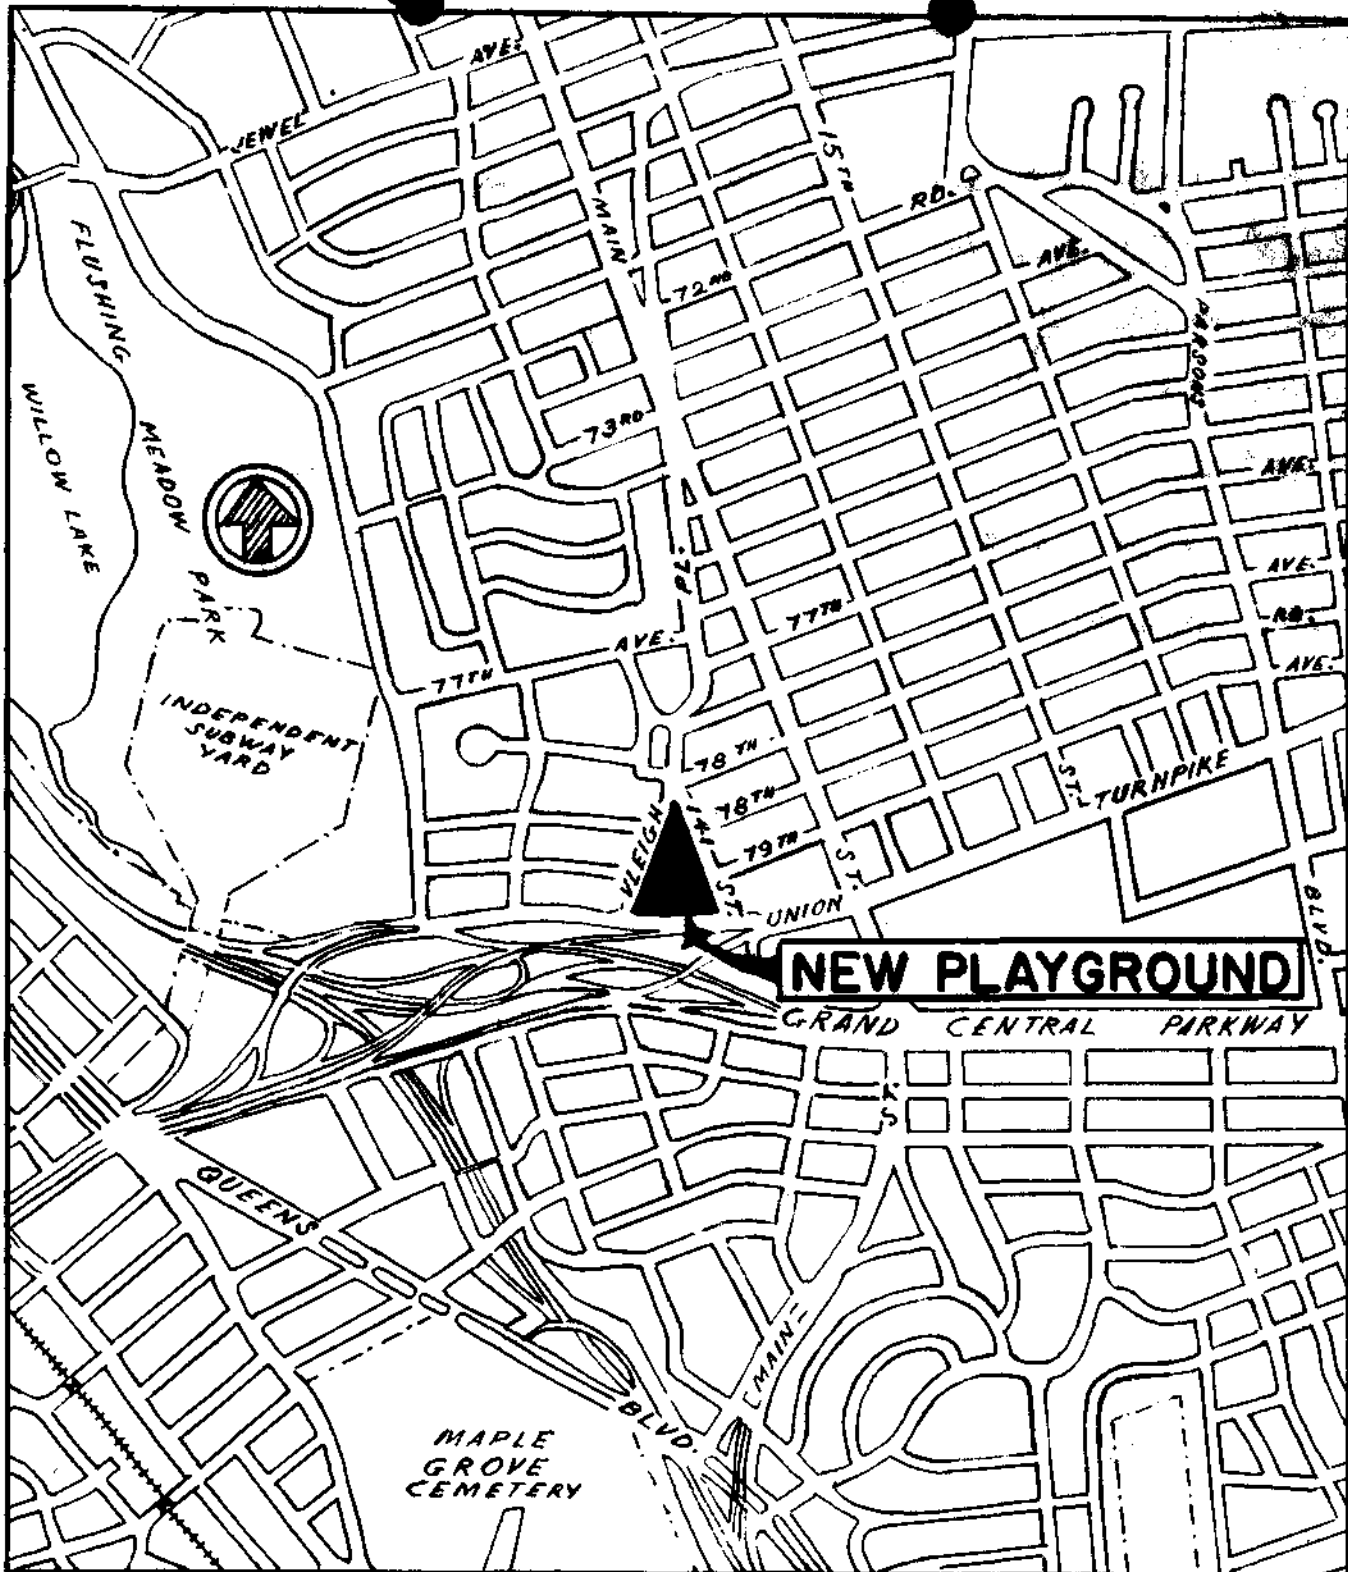

The Hunts Point plant, located at Ryawa and Hunts Point Avenues, will have an ultimate capacity of 150,000,000 gallons daily.

The Rockaway plant has been so designed that its capacity can be doubled to 30,000,000 gallons a day to accommodate increase in the population. This new works will complete the disposal plants designed to eliminate pollution in Jamaica Bay and make possible its revival for shell fishing and recreation. The Bay area with its islands, humocks and hassocks is under the jurisdiction of Park Commissioner Robert Moses, who plans to develop it into the biggest recreation area in the City.

The Department of Parks announces the opening of a new playground to the public at Union Turnpike, Vleigh Place and 141st Street in the Borough of Queens.

This 3.5 acre playground will provide recreational facilities previously lacking for the children and residents of the nearby, newly developed private homes of the surrounding community.

The improvement contains a comfort station, horseshoe pitching area, jungle gym, slides, a separate play area for smaller children with a sand pit and shower basin. There are also two softball diamonds which will be seeded in the spring and opened later in the season. Benches have been provided for guardians of children and others using the facility. The perimeter of the area has been landscaped with shade trees.

With the addition of this new playground, there are now 569 playgrounds in the expanded park system.

More than 137 million visits to parks and playgrounds were made by people who participated in organized and supervised recreational activities conducted by the New York City Department of Parks during 1951. This figure does not include additional millions who used the parks for rest and relaxation, walking, nature study, reading, and similar pastimes or the millions who made use of park roads and parkways for motoring.

A large portion of the above figure represents participation in the recreation program at local playgrounds. There are now 568 of these neighborhood playgrounds in New York City's park system. Thirty of these are new playgrounds opened to the public in 1951 bringing urgently needed recreational facilities to congested neighborhoods. Neighborhood recreation areas have become an essential part of City life, and they reflect safe and healthful recreational opportunities not only for children but also for adults who, in varied hours of daily leisure, look to nearby Park Department facilities for recreation.

On weekends and during summer months with longer periods of daylight and more time for travel, the public makes use of the larger parks and other areas with special recreational facilities. In 1951, beaches, picnic grounds, bridle paths, golf courses, tennis courts and swimming pools attracted 53,000,000 patrons.

Throughout 1951, city-wide tournaments and contests drew 90,000 contestants who competed in basketball, swimming, tennis, golf, marbles, boxing, track and field, handball, horseshoe pitching, speed and figure skating, egg rolling, barber shop harmony, dancing, and fishing. In the summer months over 800,000 people attended concerts and social and square dances held in the major parks.

Since the opening of the Wollman Memorial outdoor artificial ice skating rink on December 21, 1950, it has been used by almost 300,000 skaters, about 15,000 of these were children under 14 years of age admitted to the free sessions on Saturday mornings and on Easter and Christmas school vacation mornings. Revenue from admission fees during this period amounted to $86,500.

During the spring and fall seasons about 25,000 people used the facility for roller skating and during the summer when shuffleboard games and social and square dances were conducted, over 100,000 people were attracted to the outdoor recreation center.

St. Mary's Park Indoor Recreation Center in the Bronx, opened to the public on March 30, has a registration to date of 34,000 members. The center, with its indoor swimming pool, gymnasium, and dressing and shower facilities, and rooms for games, boxing, wrestling and exercise, music, meetings, arts and crafts, manual training, and domestic science, accommodate hundreds of children and adults daily. Special clubs and classes have been arranged and these activities include dancing, boxing, tumbling, apparatus work, pre-school children's groups, puppetry, photography, cooking classes, music, a Mother's Club, and a Social Club to plan special events for the center.

The Department of Parks announces the opening to the public of a new playground adjacent to P. S. 165, at 150th Street between 70th Road and 71st Avenue, Queens.

This 2.8 acre playground is another one of those agreed upon for joint operation by the Board of Education and the Department of Parks, and will provide recreational facilities previously lacking for both the school children and the residents of the surrounding established community.

The improvement contains a comfort station, two handball courts, a completely equipped play area for older children, as well as a separate play area for smaller children, with a sand pit and a wading pool. There is a large permanent surfaced area containing a softball diamond which will be used for roller skating and also for ice skating during sub-freezing temperatures. Numerous benches have been provided throughout the improvement for guardians of children and others using the facility. The perimeter of the development has been landscaped with shade trees.

With the addition of this new playground, there are now 568 playgrounds in the expanded park system.

LONG ISLAND STATE PARK COMMISSION
BELMONT LAKE STATE PARK
BABYLON, L. I., N. Y.

FOR ADDITIONAL INFORMATION, CALL C. R. BLAKELOCK AT BABYLON 1000

January 7, 1952

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

New regulations, directed at cutting down speeding and dangerous driving on the State parkways, have been adopted by the Long Island State Park Commission. These regulations, in the form of two additions to the Commission ordinances, will be effective immediately upon publication.

One regulation provides for a minimum fine of not less than $10 for all violations of the 40-mile-an-hour speed limit on the State parkways in Nassau and Suffolk Counties. Higher fines or imprisonment may be imposed for serious violations. The other regulation defines dangerous driving, an offense which may result in immediate suspension of an operator's license. Such suspension is in addition to mandatory suspensions now provided by law for third conviction on speeding charge, driving while intoxicated and other causes.

The new parkway ordinance provides:

"Dangerous driving is forbidden. Dangerous driving shall mean driving, using or operating any vehicle in a manner or at a rate of speed which (1) unreasonably interferes with the free and proper use of a park road, drive or parkway or (2) unreasonably endangers the users thereof, or the driver himself, or any occupant of the vehicle he operates, or any property. Dangerous driving shall include, but is not limited to, weaving in and out of traffic so as to unreasonably interfere with the right of way of drivers on the right or left or cutting from one lane of travel to another so as to unreasonably interfere with the right of way of any driver affected by such change in lanes, or slackening the pace of a vehicle abruptly or swerving into any parallel lane or near or against any curb or other object in the center or on the side of such road or parkway in such manner or at such speed as to unreasonably interfere with or endanger the use of a park road, drive or parkway, except in an emergency; or driving or backing a vehicle on a lane of a parkway in a direction opposite to that of the movement of traffic on such lane."

The new regulations are the result of a conference of the District Judges of Nassau County, the Justices of Peace from the four westerly towns in Suffolk County and the Long Island State Park Commission, at which speeding and other enforcement problems were discussed. Parkway police patrol activities will be increased to insure enforcement of these and all other regulations.

The Northern State Parkway and the Southern State Parkway each carry over seventeen million cars a year with average week-day traffic now as heavy as peak Sunday traffic used to be five years ago. The Long Island parkway fatality rate is only one-sixth of the national highway average with its annual toll of 35,000 lives throughout the country, and only a fraction of the rate of many high-speed express routes in other parts of the nation. The Long Island State Park Commission is determined to do everything possible to improve this record so that the parkways under its jurisdiction will be known as the safest in the country.
